

Standing MRI: Saving You Time and Improving Your Client's Experience...

Over 90% of standing MRI examinations results in an immediate and definitive diagnosis

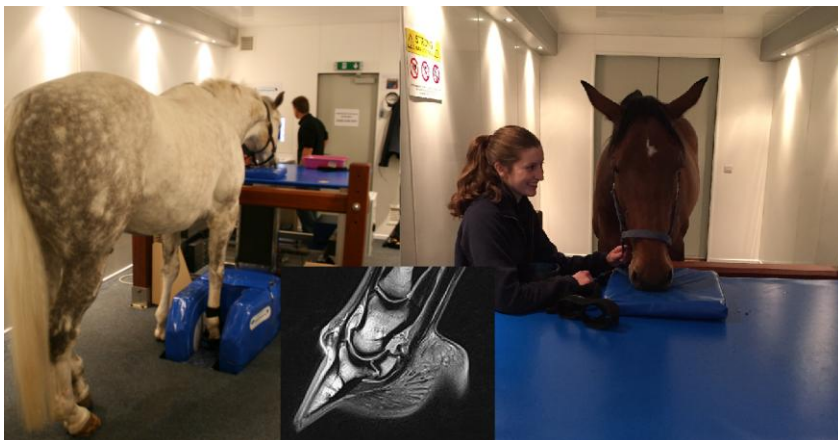

Traditional lameness investigations can easily become a cycle of trial and review that relies on a slow process of elimination

Recent research found that 70% of horses managed in this traditional manner tended to return to the clinic for further work-ups. This can result in increases of cost, client frustrations and further progression of the disease.
